RADIX DAO · WHAT GOVERNANCE TALKED ABOUT

Radix DAO Weekly

The week in governance, without the scroll-back

WEEK 47 · 16 NOV 2026

COMMUNITY MOOD · DAY BY DAY

5/10 · same as last week

Previously: the community signed the OTC deal for RDX Works' XRD and the permanent council field grew with CryptoBright and Lunatic.

Governance this week was dominated by the permanent council election: the Transition RAC activated the election time-constraint, opened a Temperature Check approving the 14-candidate ballot, and began contacting every candidate by Telegram and email. Giles Morris withdrew his candidacy. Beneath the election, members pressed again on the still-pending transfer of Foundation assets to the DAO, and moderation of the main chat sparked a genuine disagreement.

WHAT THE ROOM TALKED ABOUT

Permanent RAC election

The Transition RAC activated the election time-constraint and opened a Temperature Check at vote.radixdao.org/tc/4 to approve the 14 candidates for the ballot. The election for the seven Permanent RAC seats follows in the next vote. Giles Morris withdrew, saying the field is strong enough.

Foundation asset transfer still underway

Dustin Henderson pressed on whether the Foundation assets promised to the DAO have actually been transferred, arguing a month after DAO formation is long enough. Others said the transfer was always scheduled after the DAO is fully established and the final vote.

Price talk in the main chat

Markus proposed returning to a no-price-talk rule because market chatter drowns out other conversations, but said he will not enforce anything until the community reaches consensus. Others pushed back in favour of minimal moderation.

Anti-spam bot for main chat

Mr. Peanutbutter proposed reviving a bot requiring ownership of a Radix wallet before posting to filter spam. lex, who noted octo built the old one, offered to build a replacement that blocks spam patterns; Jonas worried it would lock out genuine newcomers.

THE BOTTOM LINE

REMEMBER THIS

The ballot-approval Temperature Check for the 14-candidate Permanent RAC election is open, with the seven-seat election to follow in the next vote.

NEXT WEEK

Watch for: the ballot-approval result, the opening of the seven-seat Permanent RAC election, and candidate confirmations via Telegram and email.

More from the room

The week had more conversations than one page could hold.

Main chat ownership and backup

lex asked whether the main Telegram chat should migrate to a community-controlled account; Markus said the Foundation has already replaced Dan's owner account with a new one that will be handed to the DAO. Kadafi confirmed he has downloaded the entire chat history.

GlowFound questions settled

Radix Blue Balls raised questions about GlowFound, a company linked to old RDX Works. projectShift clarified it is 100% owned by RDXH shareholders, is not the community's business, and its records are free on Companies House.

ALSO THIS WEEK

- Blind5ight and foxylady discussed a community coordination webpage listing what needs doing, milestones and ecosystem needs.
- XRD82 and Danner Fall pressed Kadafi on how his 'RADIX FAM' payout group would handle validator-fee money transparently.
- foxylady began an effort to update outdated Radix listings on CoinMarketCap and CoinGecko; Mr. Peanutbutter will find who controls the registered email.

From the council & the crowd

What the tracked voices said, and the week's best exchanges.

COUNCIL & INSIDER WATCH

The Transition RAC published an update activating the Permanent RAC election time-constraint and opened the ballot-approval Temperature Check. It is contacting every compliant candidate by both Telegram and email, with answers required on both channels.

projectShift TRANSITION RAC

Announced the TRAC update activating the PRAC election time-constraint and urged everyone to vote on the Temperature Check. Clarified that GlowFound is owned entirely by RDXH shareholders and is not the community's business.

"bro, all info is free in Companies House, you're being hustled"

Mr. Peanutbutter TRANSITION RAC

Proposed reviving a wallet-holding bot to filter spam, and told members the correct election entry is the Permanent RAC Election while the duplicate was fixed.

Giles Morris

Withdrew his candidacy for the Permanent RAC on the forum, framing it as a sign of a strong candidate field.

"I'm withdrawing my candidacy for the prac of the midao. The community now has more than enough excellent candidates to vote on. Exciting times."

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

"There are two election entries on vote.radixdao.org — which one should I vote on?"

The duplicate is a bug that Daffy fixed; the correct vote is the Permanent RAC Election (vote.radixdao.org/tc/4).

DEBATE OF THE WEEK — ALLOW PRICE TALK IN THE MAIN CHAT

ONE SIDE

Markus: a no-price-talk rule is needed because market chatter drowns out substantive conversations, though he will not enforce it without community consensus.

THE OTHER

lex, Ward $WOWO and Kadafi: moderation should stay minimal, since price talk is legitimate and no more off-topic than anything else in the chat.

Still open — expect a rematch.

THE PULSE

The mood: A procedural, election-focused week — the permanent council vote opening lifted the mood despite ongoing impatience about the pending asset transfer.
