Previously: the Transition RAC closed the ratification discussion for Governance Framework v1, and projectShift explained the GP-PRE-1 ratification vote.

The 31 August exploit and network halt dominated everything, including governance: the council froze the Charter ratification timetable and coordinated the response daily. Governance work continued anyway — a detailed community review of the ratification documents, a new Treasury mechanism, and a debate over compensating exploit victims.

WHAT THE ROOM TALKED ABOUT

Charter ratification timetable frozen

projectShift announced the exploit means there are no technical conditions to move the Charter & Policies ratification to a Temperature Check, so the Transition RAC is keeping the discussion phase open as long as needed and encouraged members to use the time productively.

Close-read review of GP-PRE-1

Sebööööl posted a full editorial review of the Charter, policy library and Operating Agreement, supporting ratification with thirteen non-blocking fixes. Daffy incorporated seven, declined four as already covered, and confirmed remaining points will be answered after the weekend.

New Large Milestone Authorization

Daffy added a Treasury mechanism for work that genuinely cannot be split under the $12,000 USDC single-transaction limit: a Treasury & Budget proposal at ≥66% YES, executed at the 4-of-5 high-risk threshold after a 72-hour delay and verified delivery. Five Treasury documents were updated before GP-PRE-1 signing.

Compensating exploit victims

Sebööööl proposed redirecting the 50% of XRD transaction fees currently burned into a compensation fund for hack victims; David similarly called for fee or treasury reimbursement. Others argued Radix cannot afford a bailout and that promises before the network restarts are premature.

THE BOTTOM LINE

REMEMBER THIS

Charter ratification voting is deferred indefinitely while the council manages the network halt — though DAO step one, including incorporation, is complete.

NEXT WEEK

Watch for: Daffy's answers to the remaining review points and any signal on when the ratification Temperature Check is rescheduled.

COUNCIL & INSIDER WATCH

The council spent the week coordinating the network halt response, providing daily updates; projectShift said the patch is in progress but not yet implemented, and urged the community to stop speculating until full details are shared after the fix. He also announced DAO step one is complete and clarified Jazzer and Avaunt serve as Advisors to the Transition RAC because they…

projectShift TRANSITION RAC

Coordinated the halt response and froze the ratification timetable, saying there are no technical conditions to move the Charter to a Temperature Check while the network is down.

"Let's try to turn this unforeseen extended period into an advantage wrt this discussion"

Daffy

Updated five Treasury documents with a Large Milestone Authorization and worked through Sebööö̈l's thirteen-point review, incorporating seven fixes.

"The bar goes up, not the limit."

Sebööö̈l RAC CANDIDATE

Posted a detailed close-read supporting ratification with thirteen non-blocking fixes, and separately proposed a fee-funded compensation fund for hack victims.

avaunt TRANSITION RAC

Confirmed the network fix will take at least a few more days and that the vulnerability may not have existed since launch; the community must wait for the full report.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

"Are there five people in the Transition RAC?"

The pre-DAO RAC has five members, but Jazzer and Avaunt could not accept DAO LLC membership, a legal requirement, so they act as Advisors to the Transition RAC and remain involved in everything.

DEBATE OF THE WEEK — COMPENSATING VICTIMS OF THE EXPLOIT

ONE SIDE

Redirecting burned fees or treasury funds into a compensation fund is the only way to take responsibility, rebuild trust and retain loyal holders.

THE OTHER

Radix cannot afford a bailout, redirecting fees hurts validators, and promising compensation before the network is even live is premature.

HEARD IN THE ROOM

> “That costs nothing today. It's a decision about what kind of project this is. And it's the difference between a community and a group of people who happen to hold the same token.”

> “The community doesn't even have a Governance Framework set and ratified yet, and trying to introduce voting model changes now would throw it into a spin.”

THE PULSE

The mood: Shaken but diligent — the exploit froze the governance timetable, yet the community responded with careful document reviews while arguing hard over victim compensation.
