RADIX DAO · WHAT GOVERNANCE TALKED ABOUT

The week in governance, without the scroll-back

WEEK 43 · 19 OCT 2026

19–25 Oct 2026

COMMUNITY MOOD · DAY BY DAY

4/10 · same as last week

Previously: TRAC opened the permanent council candidacy window, linuxx nominated himself, and frustration focused on the XRD still held by the former RDX entity.

Governance this week centred on the permanent council election, as more candidacies were filed and the field was publicly tallied. Alongside it, a new idea emerged for the DAO itself to buy back the former RDX entity's XRD, and the council candidate list remained short of a full committee.

WHAT THE ROOM TALKED ABOUT

Permanent RAC candidacy period

Sebööõl and Peterjan (NL) filed candidacies on the forum, bringing the field to at least six announced candidates by midweek, with two more possible from the transition council. Mr. Peanutbutter said the community is waiting for enough candidates to fill a full committee.

Ex-RDX token holdings transparency

Gary reported no progress on the RDX Works token situation due to chaotic circumstances around the directors' transition, expecting clarity by Wednesday or end of week. He stressed the community, via the DAO, will run things once resolved.

DAO buying back RDX's XRD

Jelthebest proposed that instead of an individual buyer, the DAO could use its stablecoins to buy the RDX XRD holdings so the tokens are 'in all our hands', possibly to grant to future partners or builders.

D&O insurance for RAC candidates

XRD82 asked whether candidates' nominations confirm directors-and-officers insurance to reassure those standing. Mr. Peanutbutter said it is under discussion with the MIDAO registry, while Daffy argued it may be unnecessary since the Marshall Islands DAO has no directors or board.

THE BOTTOM LINE

REMEMBER THIS

The permanent council field grew to six candidates, with Sebööõl and Peterjan (NL) filing heartfelt candidacies — but the committee is still not full.

NEXT WEEK

Watch for: the candidacy window closing on 30 October and any clarity on the RDX Works token situation.

COUNCIL & INSIDER WATCH

The transition council did not publish decisions this week; Mr. Peanutbutter, a member, said the community is waiting for the whale situation to resolve and for enough candidates to fill a full committee, and confirmed D&O insurance is under discussion with the MIDAO registry.

Mr. Peanutbutter TRANSITION RAC

Tallied six election candidates so far, said more may come from the transition council, and noted much to do but a clear path forward.

Gary COMMUNITY MEMBER LEADING BUYOU

Reported no progress on the RDX Works token situation amid chaotic director transition, expected clarity within days, and urged members to stop relying on saviors.

"We have to stop relying on saviors and hero's. Everyone has to be there own Radix hero and savior here."

GENKIPOOL RAC CANDIDATE

Shared the Proof of Personhood launch with idOS and said ISO 20022 bank messaging is not yet used on Radix and likely won't be until there is a stablecoin and sufficient liquidity.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

"Does the council nomination include confirmation of D&O insurance?"

Not yet — it is under discussion with the MIDAO organism, and some argue it is unnecessary since the Marshall Islands DAO has no directors or board members.

ASKED BY XRD82 · ANSWERED BY MR. PEANUTBUTTER

DEBATE OF THE WEEK — IS D&O INSURANCE NEEDED FOR CANDIDATES?

ONE SIDE

Confirming insurance would reassure community members considering standing for the council.

THE OTHER

Under the Marshall Islands structure the DAO is algorithmically managed with no directors or board, so D&O insurance is normally unnecessary.

open — the matter is under discussion with the MIDAO registry
