25–31 May 2026

Telegram + RadixTalk

COMMUNITY MOOD · DAY BY DAY

6/10 · +1 vs last week

Previously: the community pushed outreach ideas while Foxy's beacon-chain reveal reshaped the Xi'an picture, and the Olympia Explorer neared its May 30 shutdown.

A week of builders shipping and strategists arguing: x402 agent-payment tooling went from spec to working demo, Kards launched an XRD off-ramp, and a new cocktail game hit mainnet — while the room split over whether Radix should rebrand and said goodbye to wallet developer Ghenadie.

WHAT THE ROOM TALKED ABOUT

Agentic payments: Radix courts Cloudflare xStelea released rdx-cli 0.2.0 with x402 payment flows plus a live Cloudflare Worker reference demo, and Vlad B updated his Radix Codex plugin to match. After the Cloudflare CEO's podcast on bots paying per request, the room rallied to put Radix on his radar.

Should Radix rebrand?

An anonymous member's push to rename Radix (brand dilution, SEO, chart optics) ignited a multi-day argument. Most veterans rejected it as costly and premature, though some want the option kept alive for a post-Xi'an relaunch.

Wallet maintenance gap as Ghenadie exits

May 31 was Ghenadie's last full-time day; the Foundation has had no process for accepting wallet changes since May 1. Vlad B contributed NFT-viewing UI improvements, and Phil Gibson volunteered to maintain the mobile repo alongside Ghenadie_XRD in the interim.

History-free XRD idea explored

In the Native ZK System thread, MRX explained swapping traceable XRD with a validator for freshly minted, history-free XRD, paid for via redirected staking rewards. Leonets called it near-impossible in practice but a worthwhile exercise.

THE BOTTOM LINE

REMEMBER THIS

x402 agent payments moved from idea to working reference code on Radix — and the community is now actively pitching Cloudflare.

NEXT WEEK

Watch for: hUSD on the Kards off-ramp, Vlad B's document-signing prototype, and whether Phil Gibson's interim mobile repo role is formalised.

From the council & the crowd

What the tracked voices said, and the week's best exchanges.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

“How small a payment can Radix actually support, say a few cents for an AI service?”

You can combine on-chain and off-chain systems to record micropayments as low as 0.0001 USD, and in the right circumstances fees can go even lower.

DEBATE OF THE WEEK — SHOULD RADIX REBRAND NOW?

ONE SIDE

A unique new name would fix brand dilution, bad search results and poor optics — worth considering now rather than later.

THE OTHER

Rebranding costs hundreds of thousands to millions, failed for comparable projects, and should wait until the DAO is settled and there’s a big event like Xi’an to bundle it with.

Still open — expect a rematch.

FROM THE NEWS ROOM

Kards ships XRD off-ramp

Users can now convert XRD directly to fiat bank accounts in 30+ countries via 10+ payment methods. hUSD and other Radix assets are next.

BARDIX cocktail game launches

SILVEr | Ascent shipped a drink-crafting NFT mini-game on mainnet: buy ingredients with XRD, mix cocktails, earn Gold/Silver/Bronze NFTs.

Muan testnet goes live

Sentura's modular DAO framework Muan opened its testnet with an instruction-set template library and save/load proposal flows.

FROM THE DEV ROOM

x402 agent-payment tooling moved from spec to working reference: xStelea's Cloudflare Worker demo and rdx-cli 0.2.0 are in builders' hands, though external wallet PRs remain blocked until the Sargon repo can be built locally.

THE PULSE

The mood: Energised by real shipping and the AI-agent narrative, but restless underneath as a senior wallet developer walks out the door and the rebrand argument drags on.

JARGON, DECODED

Subintent — A pre-agreed part of a transaction that someone else can later complete with their own signature, enabling things like agent payments.

x402 — A payment scheme that lets software agents pay for web requests over HTTP, instead of humans seeing ads.

MFA — Multi-factor authentication for the Radix Wallet — extra approval steps beyond a single factor, currently being built for Stokenet.
