COMMUNITY MOOD — 6/10 · same as last week

Previously: the Permanent RAC recruitment crisis ended with seven candidates stepping forward, the DAO paperwork awaited Foundation legal review, and debates over paid proposals and contributor vetting kept simmering.

A week of grassroots momentum and governance tinkering. LRB85's community-built website and dashboard drew both praise and fierce design critique, two proposals entered temperature check, and the room prepared to mark the first anniversary of Dan Hughes's passing with warmth and reverence.

WHAT THE ROOM TALKED ABOUT

Community website divides the room

LRB85 built a full Radix website and explorer from scratch, but the design split opinions: foxylady and Kafkafrate called it cluttered and generic, while LRB85 defended it as information-rich for institutions. djtrebel proposed dropping the costly Webflow subscription and migrating to Cloudflare as a first step, and a migration proposal was teed up for a…

Two RFPs enter temperature check

Daffy's Stokenet operations proposal and Timan's website migration proposal both opened for temperature-check voting. tomsnn urged the community to engage and vote to demonstrate real support, while foxylady questioned whether temperature checks add value or just cause voter fatigue.

Social media handover to FarahXRD

Andyxrd proposed bringing back FarahXRD to manage Foundation social channels as an interim bridge until the DAO launches. After some discussion about payment transparency, Farah agreed to do it free of charge, with community-submitted posts vetted against Foundation guidelines.

Remembering Dan Hughes

As the 29 July anniversary of Dan Hughes's passing approached, sonotopia, djtrebel and ProphetCantex shared warm memories over Kraken rum. djtrebel recalled Dan's wish to involve the community more in development, calling him 'spicy with a little bit of sweetness.'

THE BOTTOM LINE

REMEMBER THIS

Two community RFPs are in live temperature-check voting — the first real test of whether the community can surface, debate and approve its own proposals.

NEXT WEEK

Watch for: temperature-check results on the Stokenet and website migration proposals, and the Dan Hughes anniversary on 29 July.

From the council & the crowd

What the tracked voices said, and the week's best exchanges.

COUNCIL & INSIDER WATCH

projectShift endorsed the interim social media plan, pushed for transparent disclosure of any compensation, and reminded the community that stepping up with proposals is effective training for the DAO. He also posted governance materials in the RAC channel and asked for them to be pinned in main chat.

Andyxrd RAC

Proposed bringing FarahXRD back to manage Foundation social channels on an interim basis until the DAO launches; confirmed Farah agreed to do it free of charge after payment-transparency concerns were raised.

projectShift RAC

Endorsed the social media transition plan, called for transparent disclosure of any compensation, and reminded the community that submitting proposals and voting is real DAO training.

"This community is perhaps finally realizing that instead of just asking/demanding/claiming that 'this and that' should happen, it needs actual ppl to step up, make a proposal and get it approved"

FarahXRD COMMUNITY / EX-FOUNDATION STAF

Accepted the interim social media role, suggested using a form or dedicated Telegram group to collect community post submissions, and agreed to do the work free of charge.

LRB85 COMMUNITY CONTRIBUTOR

Built a community Radix website and explorer from scratch, defended its information-rich design against critics, raised concerns about payment transparency for Farah's social media role, and celebrated 9,600 views on a Reddit post about Radix.

"I created the website because someone on radixtalk suggested making the radix website from scratch, and the idea is that in the future the website will be the official Radix website"

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

"What's the best way to buy XRD with BTC, and is a direct swap possible through a DEX?"

A direct BTC-to-XRD swap isn't available; the recommended route is swapping USDC (ETH) to USDH (Radix) via nexus.hyperlane.xyz, then swapping USDH for XRD on CaviarNine or Astrolescent. DEX aggregators like caviar.io may offer better value.

DEBATE OF THE WEEK — RADIX WEBSITE CLARITY VS DEPTH

ONE SIDE

The website should be clean and targeted: foxylady, Kafkafrate and Perer argued it is overloaded with buzzwords, lacks character and confuses newcomers.

THE OTHER

Depth serves institutions: LRB85 and Flor_182 defended the information-rich approach as appropriate for an institutional audience that wants substance.

open — djtrebel proposed a website migration RFP as a practical first step, now in temperature check.
